DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claims 1 and 6, line 6, the phrase "inside the handle end" is not fully understood in the context of the invention. It is not clear how are the clasps inside the handle end. By what structure is this achieved?

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hansen et al., US Patent 5,722,118. See figures 5 and 6. A luggage item attachment comprising a rigid and solid main body 102 made of hardened plastic or composite, molded to be fitted with a handle gripping surface on one end and molded with a forked end on the opposite side of the main body, and predrilled holes near (118, 117) on the main body inside the handle area and a forked end (note v-shape) for mounting connection clasps; two permanently attached connection clasps near (118, 117), two inside the handle end of the main body; two flat, elongated, and flexible straps (115, 116), each permanently attached to a connection clasp by one strap end with the other strap end loose, one attached on the clasp near the handle end of the main body, and a gripping surface on one end of this device, either molded for ergonomic gripping purposes, as in the contour of a hand, or fitted with a rubberized or plastic gripping surface. The straps having permanently attached self-adhesives, as claimed.

Hansen discloses the claimed invention except for explicitly teaching a third clasp near the forked end of the main body, as claimed. Such a modification would merely serve to increase stability of the device. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified the device in this way, since it has been held that mere duplication of the essential working parts of a device involves only routine skill in the art. St. Regis

Paper Co. v. Bemis Co., 193 USPQ 8. Such a modification is not critical to the design and would have produced no unexpected results.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claim 6 would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action.

6. Claims 2-5 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
